▶ LOGISTICS

Our proven expertise in procurement, warehousing, distribution and freight management can help you keep your supply chain - and your business - moving.

In Russia, we work in close partnership with our customers, helping them to grow their business by taking full control of their logistics functions. With their profits in mind, we operate an innovative business model that involves taking goods ownership of our customers' product, allowing them to minimize risk and manage vital working capital.

Customers also benefit from our detailed understanding of the unique challenges associated with doing business in Russia. Our systems, for example, are designed to provide 24/7 operational support across the country's numerous time zones. Our extensive distribution network and state-of-the-art vehicle fleet equip our highly trained teams to make long-distance deliveries on time, every time - even in the most extreme weather conditions.

Whatever the challenges, our customers know that we always deliver the HAVI promise while always complying 100% with all corporate, national and local regulations.

Going greener

We take a leadership role in promoting the principles of sustainable business practice. Among numerous green initiatives, we have fitted all our distribution centers with environmentally efficient LED lighting and energy equipment. We also have an industry-leading fleet and have recently enlarged the fleet's compressed natural gas (CNG) trucks to maximize cost efficiencies while minimizing our environmental impact.

▶ PACKAGING

HAVI provides strategic and operational expertise to ensure that our customers' packaging supports the optimal movement of their products through the supply chain. We take a holistic view, determining how packaging can support a customer's strategic goals from concept development to production to the market and through end of life. In Russia, we manage packaging supplies at 566 restaurants for the leading global quick service restaurant brand.

▶ RECYCLING & WASTE

In line with global trends, Russian consumers are demanding more from companies when it comes to acting responsibly towards the environment. Drawing on HAVI's global expertise, our teams in Russia work with local partners to respond to people's growing concerns. Worldwide, HAVI provides end-to-end waste management solutions that drive savings and unlock revenue while promoting sustainable business practices.

▶ SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

Our talented Supply Chain Management experts partner with our customers to understand their business objectives, then deliver a suite of right-sized solutions designed to meet those objectives. We know that our customers' primary focus is always on their own customers. Accordingly, our procurement and planning specialists use their expertise to ensure that our customers never run out of the product their customers want to buy. We also handle all the operational issues associated with managing promotions.
