Distribution Centers

LOGISTICS

Our proven expertise in procurement, warehousing, distribution and freight management can help you keep your supply chain - and your business - moving.

In Indonesia, we are the only business that specializes in food logistics. We act as trusted partners in our customers' success by taking care of their logistics and freeing them to focus on growth. Among other strengths, our customers benefit from our extensive distribution network combined with our proven expertise in quality assurance and inventory management. We offer a product sourcing service and continue to invest in new logistics infrastructure to meet our customers' expanding needs.

Our customers also benefit from our first-hand understanding of the unique demands of doing business in Indonesia and maintaining high quality standards to ensure food safety. Indonesia is the world's largest archipelago, which makes cold chain logistics particularly complex to manage. Other challenges include poor public infrastructure and highly congested roads.

Whatever challenges we face together, our customers know that we have the expertise and can-do attitude to deliver the HAVI promise on time, every time.

PACKAGING

HAVI provides strategic and operational expertise to ensure that our customers' packaging supports the optimal movement of their products through the supply chain. We take an holistic view, determining how packaging can support a customer's strategic goals from concept development to production to the market and through end of life. In Indonesia, we manage packaging supplies at 166 restaurants for the leading global quick service restaurant brand.

Halaal Certification of Excellence

HAVI was the first logistics provider in Indonesia to obtain Halal certification from the Indonesian Muslim Panel. We also won recognition from Frost & Sullivan as the Indonesian Halal Logistics Provider of the Year two years running.

RECYCLING & WASTE

In line with global trends, Indonesian consumers are demanding more from companies when it comes to acting responsibly towards the environment. Drawing on HAVI's global expertise, our teams in Indonesia are ideally positioned to respond to people's growing concerns. Worldwide, HAVI provides end-to-end waste management solutions that drive savings and unlock revenue while promoting sustainable business practices.

SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

Our talented Supply Chain Management experts partner with our customers to understand their business objectives, then deliver a suite of right-sized solutions designed to meet those objectives. We know that our customers' primary focus is always on their own customers. Accordingly, our procurement and planning specialists use their expertise to ensure that our customers never run out of the product their customers want to buy. We also handle all the operational issues associated with managing promotions.
